

Treating Crohn's Disease: Now and into the Future

Friday, December 7, 2007

Registration and dinner: 5:30–6:00 p.m.

Program: 6:00–7:30 p.m.

Garden Ballroom

Fairmont Turnberry Isle Resort & Club

Aventura, FL

Program

6:00 p.m. Introduction:

Taking the cutting-edge into clinical practice

Stephen B. Hanauer

The use of biomarkers, genetics and other clinical indicators to predict prognosis and guide treatment decisions

Uma Mahadevan-Velayos

Who needs early biologic treatment?

Accelerated step-up or top-down

– Implications for natural history

Bruce E. Sands

Immunomodulator co-therapy with biologics

– Stop or continue?

Marla C. Dubinsky

Next-generation subcutaneous anti-TNF- α therapy:

What does the future hold?

Stephen B. Hanauer

Panel discussion:

Definitions of non-response and practicalities of switching between anti-TNF- α therapies

Led by Stephen B. Hanauer

Question time

All

7:30 p.m. Close: What have we learned?

This activity will be held during the CCFA Annual Meeting. It is not considered part of the official program of the CCFA.

This activity is jointly sponsored by CME Consultants and Strategic Consultants International

This activity is made possible through an educational grant provided by UCB, Inc.